General Philosophy

Geezer Gamers (GG) is a site where "slightly older" gamers can get together and share their life experiences. The main purpose is to allow the GG members to enhance their gaming experiences by getting to know and interact with their fellow gamers in an environment that understands and respects the differences in interests and responsibilities among the various age demographics.

While GG enjoys the use of mature language, imagery and situations, members of the site must be of sufficient maturity to differentiate between acceptable and unacceptable behavior. The following rules are a set of guidelines, by which GG will operate. All members must hold themselves to these rules AT A MINIMUM.

GG would request that members conduct themselves with honor and integrity, while maintaining the youthful indifference that makes gaming so much fun. Members who violate the following guidelines may have their accounts terminated.

- This site is intended to be a community of friends. Activity that damages the community is not acceptable -- this includes, but is not limited to, the malicious slandering of other GG members or their families.
- Personal attacks will not be tolerated. You may not post hostile messages in the forums, or send hostile unsolicited private messages. Nor may you use information (IM addresses, email addresses) gathered from GG for this purpose. (Note: It is understood that a portion of GG's culture stems from good natured ribbing. However, the point at which a joke becomes personal is the point at which it has gone too far.)
- You agree not to post unsolicited ads for anything non-GG related in the forums or via private messages. If you wish to make use of the Game Swap or Classified Forums, please feel free to do so. However, any other posting of solicitations or advertisements will not be tolerated.
- You agree not to post hatespeech (racial, gender, sexuality, etc.) in the forums or through the private messaging system.
- You agree not to post adult material of an obscene or licentious nature. While most GG members might appreciate images or content of an adult nature, such items do not fit the proposed image of GG. Posts containing such material will be deleted immediately.
- Under no circumstances may you use GG to host images for another site. GG takes bandwidth theft very seriously and will take steps to insure that the site expenses are limited to GG usage.

- You may only have one account at a time. If you need to change your account name, contact one of the administrators (webmaster@geezergamers.com) and ask them to do so on your behalf.
- Accounts are for one person only. Please do not share your userid or password with anyone else. Doing so prevents other members from forming a trusting relationship with you and may inhibit GG's ability to serve custom functionality to you. Registration is simple and free - encourage your friends and family to join.

- You must be at least 18 years old to use GG. Younger users will not be allowed on the site. We're sorry, but GG really is for the older gamer. We have a singular bond (jobs, families, responsibilities) which the younger community just can't understand.
- You agree not to post images or content to the forums or gallery that you do not have the legal right to (ie. you must be the photographer or creator of any image you post). Non-original Images may be posted to the website (where allowed), as long as they are accompanied by editorial text and used in a manner which does not challenge the original copyright holder.
- You agree not to post original GG content (images from the galleries, movies, etc.) at any other site. You also agree not to forward any such content via email, instant messaging or any other medium.
- The GG logo and mascot are copyrighted materials. You agree not to use them in any medium without first attaining written permission (webmaster@geezergamers.com).

[GEEZER TRANSLATION:

- Don't try to make money with our site
- Don't steal our crap and post it somewhere else without our blessing
- Don't say anything more offensive than something we would say – yes, we'll decide what's too offensive and all sales are final
- Don't post dirty pictures on our site – (but if it's some good shit – e-mail it to us)
- Don't join if you're under 18 – we'll send you home screaming to your mommy
- Don't post other people's shit – if we get sued for it, we'll find you]
